You Keep Your Rights

Now that you live in an assisted living facility, you have the same rights you have always had...and a few more.

THIS IS YOUR HOME

You have the right to make yourself at home – to have privacy, to have visitors, to have your own belongings, to pursue your own interests. You also have the right to leave, and the right to stay.

THIS IS YOUR HEALTH

You have the right to access health care providers of your choice, rehabilitation services as you need them, special diets per your request and activities that interest you.

THIS IS YOUR LIFE

You have the right to decide how you want to spend your day, eat meals that are consistent with your needs, and pursue activities inside and outside the facility.

You Have the Right...

TO KNOW:

- What services are available and at what cost
- How to request special services
- How to get the treatment and services you need
- The details of your Resident Agreement and obtain a copy of it

TO CHOOSE:

- Your doctor, pharmacy, and other health care providers
- To participate in the development of your service plan
- Your daily routine
- How to spend your money
- To visit with family and friends
- To participate in activities inside and outside the facility

TO PRIVACY:

- In your room
- In communication – mail, phone, and visits
- While receiving personal care and medical treatment
- For your personal and medical records

TO BE FREE FROM:

- Abuse
- Neglect
- Discrimination
- Exploitation
- Retaliation
- Restraints

If the assisted living facility asks you to move...

You can only be discharged if:

- The assisted living facility is unable to meet your needs
- You require more skilled nursing care than the facility is able to provide
- The health or safety of others is endangered, or
- You fail to meet your financial obligation to the facility

Even then you have rights:

The assisted living facility must notify you in writing the reason for the discharge, when and where you would go, how to appeal the notice.

Certain circumstance may negate you receiving a 30-day discharge notice. Contact your local ombudsman program for further information and assistance.
